

Terms Of Use

Booking conditions

When you book through Gasht, you agree to the accommodation's rules, including cancellation policies and other terms during your stay. This also covers any services or products provided by the accommodation. Be sure to check for any special terms from the specific accommodation.

Terms of Use

By using the Gasht app, you agree to follow all the rules in this agreement. You confirm that you're allowed to use the app and follow these rules.

Changes to Terms

While we try to be accurate, Gasht and its partners aren't responsible for any mistakes on the app.

Info Accuracy and Updates

Gasht's app aims to share accurate info about services and products. But we aren't responsible for any errors. When you use the app, know that rules, service info, or anything else may change without notice. These changes start working when they're on the app. Remember to check the rules often. If you keep using the app, it means you're okay with the new rules

Reservation Updates and Cancellation

Failure to inform the accommodation about a missed check-in might lead to canceling the remaining booking, depending on their rules.

Policies differ among properties, and some may have fees for changes or cancellations. Check the accommodation's cancellation policy before booking. Gasht may apply fees as mentioned on the site. Keep in mind that service fees won't be refunded in case of cancellation. For reservation changes, follow the instructions in your confirmation email or contact Gasht's customer service.

Moreover, the landlord has the right to request your official document and an amount of money as an assurance. Both will be returned before leaving the property.
